

Delta Starts Nonstop Service between Tampa and Five Popular Southern Destinations

TAMPA, Fla. November 1, 2004 – Delta Air Lines customers can travel from Tampa Bay to the heart of the south with one easy flight as Delta begins offering new nonstop service between Tampa and five popular cities in Alabama, South Carolina, and Tennessee.

On Nov. 1, 2004, Delta will begin offering customers two daily, nonstop flights each between Tampa and Huntsville, Ala.; Charleston, Columbia, and Greenville/Spartanburg, S.C.; and Knoxville, Tenn. The new flights will be flown by Delta Connection carrier Atlantic Southeast Airlines (ASA).

“Delta has proudly been providing service to these communities for decades,” said Doug Blissit, Delta’s vice president-Network Analysis. “Today’s announcement underscores our commitment to provide our customers with easy and affordable access to the destinations they want.”
